[Phoenix, AZ] — On May 1st, the Arizona Supreme Court will celebrate Law Day by recognizing students from Arizona high schools for their essay submissions on the topic "How Should the Courts Uphold the Rule of Law?" Joined by their parents and teachers, the top three winners from participating counties in Arizona will receive special recognition from Arizona Supreme Court Justices during a luncheon held in their honor. Top essay winners from each county will be announced at the luncheon and receive a $250 scholarship from the Arizona Foundation for Legal Services & Education.

"I look forward to celebrating Law Day by discussing the issue of how courts should uphold the rule of law with thoughtful high school students from throughout the state. From what I have read of their essays, the future of the court system will be in very good hands." said Chief Justice Ruth McGregor, who will spend the afternoon discussing the essay contest topic with the winners.

The 2008 Law Day Essay Contest received 90 submissions from schools throughout Arizona. Winners of the 2008 Law Day Essay Contest are:

Amalia Skilton	Tempe Preparatory Academy	Maricopa County

The Supreme Court will also recognize middle school winners from the Maricopa County Bar Association middle school Law Day Essay Contest at the luncheon.

About Law Day:

In 1958, President Dwight D. Eisenhower proclaimed May 1st Law Day to strengthen our nation's great heritage of liberty, justice, and equality under the law. Each year since, the American Bar Association, with help from local courts, bar associations and legal charities, has promoted events across the nation to celebrate Law Day. The Arizona Foundation for Legal Service & Education's Law Day Essay Scholarship Contest is sponsored by the Arizona Supreme Court and Maricopa County Bar.

About the Arizona Foundation for Legal Services & Education:

The Arizona Foundation for Legal Services & Education provides technical and financial assistance to legal aid organizations, schools and community groups working toward "access to justice for all Arizonans" through law-related education and free legal services.
